Introduction

Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) also known as Chronic Renal Disease is a condition characterized by gradual loss of kidney function. Presently statistics state that the disease is quite prevalent affecting >10% of general population worldwide.

Reported prevalence of CKD in different regions of India is about 13%. In Goa, it is estimated that about 12000 people are suffering from the disease with 150 - 200 cases being added every year. To prevent this scenario, Ayurveda has emphasized on elimination of root cause of the disease giving prime importance to Kidney as one of the Trimarma.

The WHO projects CKD to become 5th most common chronic disease by 2040. Hence to create awareness and understand the Nidan Panchak of CKD, an one day International Seminar has been organised.....
